My Column

Cpl. Whyte Whitaker Jr.

Well, we thought that this would be one year that we would not eat an Easter egg. However, we didn't. Either Corporal Tim's mother or one of his girls sent a basket full of the rabbit fruit. The bunny must have been fed quite a lot of sweetening to produce such eggs.

Rumor hath it that the 56th Brigade will take a trip to Miami, Florida, around the last of this month. Long motor marches of this type are necessary in the training of a field artillery unit and are not made all together for our enjoyment. In all the towns we stop in we have time off to take in the points of interest.

* * *

Since America is becomming more air minded every year it is quite a nice thing for young men to receive their training at the government's expense in the United States Army or Navy Air Force. A good pilot must have a quick mind, a strong body and a few more inches of intestants than the average fellow. Beware of the fad that has been created . . . dropping out of a cloud several hundred miles an hour takes good nerves.

Sgts. W. T. Mann, William Greenlee, Cpl. E. C. Shaw, Pvts. Arthur Kindred, George Townsend and Lynn Williams left for home this past week-end. "Home, sweet home, there is no place like home," eh fellows.

* * *

"Pig" Payne started something when he bought himself a car. Three more fellows have followed pursuit. The Thomas boys, Chas. Gaston and Pat Austin.

* * *

The Manassa Mauler, Jack Dempsey, was the referee at the Starke Arena, this past Saturday. Lt. Davis' little son seemed to have been enjoying hearing the wrestlers yell.

* * *

Corporal Barney Echols seems to enjoy skating at Starke very much. Since Barney did not do very much skating back in Grenada we wonder if it could be the blonde rather than the skating that lures him there very often.

* * *

This is to verify that Sgt. Jackson is in receipt of one picture and one bracelet. Cheer up ole fellow, "Behind the clouds the sun is still shining." Thou fate is the common fate of all, into each life some rain must fall."

* * *

No sir, you can't keep a good man down. Private "Pete" Morgan makes an occasional visit from the hospital to see us. A fellow with a weak constitution would not have survived the wreck.

* * *

Private Troy Hankins is about to lose his girl. Her affections have turned to another, he reports after a visit home. It's OK for a fellow to help your girl but when they help you all-the-day-out it's bad, eh "Hank."

* * *

Private Sam B. Spence has 21 days of attached service. He is helping guard the bad little boys in the guard house. He says if you shoot at an escaping prisoner and miss him you serve out the fellow's time in the guard house. He's not intending to miss.

* * *

I think it is noteworthy to mention that Motor Detail were highly complimented on their inspection. When you rub a white glove on a motor and no grease comes off it is a good sign that a job has been well done. The credit goes to Sgt. Burt and drivers.

* * *

Sgt. Ming's wife and little daughter graced our mess hall with a dinner visit this last Sunday. They reside in Gainesville.

Sgt. Burt, wife and baby motored to Grenada for a short visit, this week.

New-Born Baby Found On Railroad Track

Last Saturday afternoon, a beautiful little white baby girl, apparently only a few hours old, was found on the railroad tracks just above the "junction," North of Grenada. The baby was stark naked and had cinders from the track on its body and face.

After some confusion as to its disposition, it was turned over to the city and county health officer, Dr. R. A. Clanton, who purchased some clothing for the child and carried it to Grenada Hospital, where she still is. Naturally, this poor little abandoned baby has become the pet of the kind-hearted nurses there.

No clue as to her identity has been found. What final disposition will be made of the child is not yet known.

"Opportunity Days" At Greenwood

"Opportunity Days" will be staged in Greenwood on Thursday, Friday and Saturday, April 17, 18 and 19, and people throughout this territory are invited to visit Greenwood during this big three day event, and share in the outstanding values offered by Greenwood merchants.

Cooperating in an effort to bring new faces to town, and as an expression of appreciation to their old friends, Greenwod merchants will hold Opportunity Days each month. Values offered for the occasion will be listed in advertisements in this newspaper.

Every courtesy will be extended to visitors on these days. Greenwood Traffic Police will lend their assistance in parking the cars, and every out-of-town visitor will be accorded the privilege of parking on the business streets as long as he wishes. In fact, everything will be done for his pleasure and comfort.

The Sage Of Marble Hall Speaks

An Editorial

Far be it from me to guarantee that I can interpret accurately what the Sage of Marble Hall meant in a recent article about getting in on government spending. The Sphinx itself is not more inscrutable than the Sage of Marble Hall. Ordinarily the Oracle of Delphia could not interpret what he means when he writes.

Lest, however, the Sage of Marble Hall was referring to Mr. Herbert B. Allen as "the opportunist and slick-tongued schemer, who has a formula for cutting you in, and who paints a word picture of the benefits and blessings he may bring you, which is more than comparable to the proverbial 'Land of Milk and Honey'," the fallowing facts regarding Mr. Allen should be stated. I invite anyone who does not believe what I say to ask Mr. Homer J. Williams, Mr. David Y. Dubard, Mr. J. H. Oliver, Mr. H. L. Honeycutt, Mr. J. B. Perry, Jr., or Mr. B. J. Anderson—all reputable men of Grenada—and neither of whom has been consulted about what I am about to write, to seek to verify what I am about to write.

Some weeks ago there was talk among some of the leaders of Grenada of sending some man or some committee of men to the North and to the East to seek to interest some industrialist or industrialists in locating a plant or plants in Grenada. Some days later I was in Jackson and saw Mr. Allen who spoke privately to me of the great opoprtunities that Mississippi MIGHT be missing in the chermugical industry. He also spoke to me then, as he had often spoken, of his acquaintance with and his entree to some of the so-called great industrialists; particularly in the Detroit area, I said nothing whatever to him of coming to Greanada other than that the Lions (having heard what a fine speech he made before the Rotarians) wished him to come to Grenada to speak to them. And, by the way, I provided his transportation both times he spoke to the service clubs.

Upon my return to Grenada from Jackson, it dawned upon me that Mr. Allen might give Grenada some "leads" as to whom to contact in the North and East, and how to contact them, and I contacted Mr. Williams, telling him that Allen might give Grenada some "leads." After some discussion as to whether a committee would go to Jackson to see Mr. Allen, or Mr. Allen would again be invited to come to Grenada, it was determined to ask Mr. Allen to meet a small group of men (heretofore named as "my witnesses") at The Barwin. He came and at the luncheon and afterwards for over two hours spoke of what might be done here in Grenada. It was at this small meeting that Mr. Allen was asked whether he would be interested in coming to Grenada and being active secretary of a Chamber of Commerce when, or if formed. HE DID NOT COME HERE SEEKING A JOB.

Later this small group got together a larger group upstairs over Grenada Bank (and I am assured that the Sage of Marble Hall was urged to be present). Mr. Allen made a short talk to this larger group. After his talk, he and I retired so that the group could freely discuss the formation of a Chamber of Commerce and the employment of Mr. Allen as its secretary. I am advised that this group was unanimous in accepting the terms of employment that Mr. Allen suggested. Two representatives from this meeting, namely Messrs. Williams and Honeycutt, in my presence made a firm trade with Mr. Allen.

I also state most positively that Mr. Allen made no extravagant claims. He stated that it might require weeks or perhaps months to prepare for a thirty-minute interview with a busy industrialist, that a man seeking something from a large industrialist must have ALL the answers.

I state most positively that Mr. Allen was SOUGHT, and that he did not SEEK employment here.

I state, as my candid belief, that Mr. Allen does not give a damn for money other than enough to live comfortably.

I state further, as my candid belief, that were he interested only in money a man as bright and intelligent as himself could earn more money than he would know what to do with.

Again I invite doubters to ask either of the six gentlemen named in the second paragraph hereof whether I myself am exaggerating.

I state, in conclusion, that, if the Sage of Marble Hall WAS referring to Mr. Allen he offered a gratuitous insult to the intelligence of the newly-formed Chamber of Commerce, its president, its secretary and its members.

P. S. If you do not know where Marble Hall is, ask one of the older citizens of Grenada.

Old Partnership Dissolved; Gerard Retiring

The partnership, consisting of Messrs. Frank T. Gerard and Sam J. Simmons, Sr., and operating as City Lumber Company, was formally dissolved recently when Mr. Gerard sold his interest to Mr. Simmons who will carry on this business.

The firm was started as Porter and Simmons about 30 years ago, then Mr. Simmons became sole owner and changed the name to City Lumber Company. In October, 1914, Mr. Gerard bought a one-half interest from Mr. Simmons. Since this time, City Lumber Company has grown and prospered, due to honest and fair dealing and hard, consistent work performed by the partners working in harmony.

Mr. Gerard's health, since an operation last year, has been none too good. It is interesting to note that Mr. Gerard is the oldest native-born merchant in Grenada.

HOLDS UP RAILWAY TRAIN

Yes, truth IS stranger than fiction: Baby Ray Dowdle, four-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Ray Dowdle of Grenada, recently held up the Peavine train, armed with an air ride. Asked where he learned such desperate tactics, he stated that he learned them at the cowboy shows at the pictue show. Armed with his gun he stood in the middle of the track and made the engineer stop the train.

Little Miss Margaret Bradley reports that she is a grandmother now, that her cat brought in four pretty kittens.

Drilling Is Resumed At Haserway

Drilling was resumed Sunday on the hoped-to-be oil well at Haserway by Mr. Williams in charge of operations. The bit is going down twenty-four hours a day. This well is located on the extreme Eastern edge of the Connecticut General Life Insurance Company's property, and is within a few feet of property owned by Mr. Finley Horton.

What they are going to get, nobody knows.

Grenada, The City Beautiful

By Mrs. W. W. W.

Grenada is situated on the banks of the rivers—Yalobusha and Bogue—and nestles in the shelter of lofty hills on the West. We have a fine climate and the soil is singularly fertile, producing fruits and vegetables, shrubs and flowers in abundance. In recent times Grenada has made great progress in its extent, street improvements, population and industry. For these blessings we thank our Creator and man, but for the following assets and improvements we give thanks to God and the women of Grenada.

One need but to pause on any street in Grenada but one moment to catch glimpses of rows or plots of purple, white, yellow, and blue iris. Vivid azalias blossom in some of the more pretentious gardens, blooming in breathtaking beauty, each day a little more lovely than the day before. The soil here must be especially good for lilacs as many large bushes, their branches heavy with fragrant clusters of the lavender or purple or white blossoms sway in the Spring sunshine. Giant trees or pruned plants are draped with Wisteria blossoms. The white bridal wreath falls in long sweeping branches as graceful as the bridal veil for which it was named. Fragrant narcissi and that lovely and effective border plant "Thrift" encircles walks and garden paths studded by priceless beauty of dark eyed pansies and joyous tulips.

Early Spring morning rose buds modestly unfurling greet the flower lover on every side. Overhead the magnificent Water Oaks that line our streets, are again as sentimentals arrayed in new beauty. If you have not made a trip about Grenada the past week, do not fail to any longer. A real treat is in store for you.

A taxi driver informed us that some "Yankee folks" had him to drive up and down South Street seven times that they might enjoy the beauty of the gardens and homes located there. Appreciate and Love Grenada.

BRIDE-ELECT HONORED

Miss Cora Mullin, attractive bride-elect of Mr. H. D. Lane, Jr., was honored at a charmingly arranged linen shower Friday evening at eight o'clock by Miss Jackie Lane, sister of the groom-to-be. This delightful event occurred in the home of Mrs. P. H. Youngblood who with Mrs. Lane, assisted the young hostess in their usual gracious manner.

Miss Mullin was attired in a frock of sea frock of silk print. Her corsage was of white carnations, a gift from Mr. H. D. Lane, Sr. Mrs. Youngblood's home was gala in decorations as quantities of yard flowers were arranged effectively throughout the rooms. Here the twenty guests were greeted by the hostess and honoree.

Several contests were enjoyed. The first, "The Wedding of Flowers," contest winner, Mrs. Robert Murphy received a bag of rice. This was distributed and the guests showered it on the bride-elect.

At Mrs. Lane's request, Miss Mullin read a short sketch on "How to Catch a Husband." Miss Marguerite Finney, in an amusing way, read "Classes of Men," much to the delight of the guests.

Mrs. Robert Murphy recited the blessing prayers for the bride. The Shower occurred when the bride, in leading the way to a treasure hunt discovered a huge bundle of clothes, all tied in a sheet, behind the divan. Many lovely gifts of linens for towels, bridge sets, table cloths and napkins, hand embroidered dresser sets, sheets and cases, pillow cases and bathsets were presented the delighted honoree.

Mrs. Youngblood's record recording machine was put to use and three records of good wishes and words of love were made for Miss Mullin. Dainty favors were clothes pin brides, to hold which held in place the refreshment napkin. Dainty refreshments of ice cream topped with whipped cream and cherry was served with individual white iced cakes topped by an delicate marshmallow chick.

Lawrence Allred from Miss. State, was home for the week-end.

IRIS CLUB

The Iris Club's April meeting was held in two lovely homes of members on Thursday afternoon of last week. The members and guests assembled at the charming home of Mrs. R. L. Vandivier at three o'clock. Here many lovely iris adorned the reception rooms and the club members were privileged to informally inspect the arrangements of the several specimens of iris grown in the home garden.

The inviting and very lovely country home of Mrs. T. B. Revell, "Triangle R" was the scene of the afternoon's program. Mrs. Glenn Thomason spoke most interestingly on the topic "Where, when and how to plant Iris." "Triangle R" is the newly occupied country home of Mr. and Mrs. T. B. Revell and is in design, a rustic beige. The interior is of knotty pine; a huge fire place is an interesting feature of the living room where colorful easy chairs, couches and bookcases are arranged conveniently near interesting windows where views of shrubs, bulbs, graced by building and blooming trees of dog wood, wild plum, red bud and wild azaleas delight the eye.

The hostess [illegible] iris bedecked in the rooms of the home; these added a vivid and charming note.

At the conclusion of the program the hostess served waffles and a choice of ice cream direct from the home dairy.

The friends of the Wilson family were very happy to have Mrs. Fred White, Jr. and little baby home from the Grenada Hospital Friday.

Miss Ruth Hooker, of Jackson, was home this week-end.

Miss Lucile Pridgen, Miss Eleanor Jackson and Mrs. Charles Allen, of Water Valley, visited Mrs. Glenn Friday.

SURPRISE MISCELLANEOUS SHOWER; MR. AND MRS. J. H. NEELY, JR. HONORED

Amid a scene of Spring time beauty, one of the loveliest courtesies of the past week was staged in the very charming garden of the home of Miss Joyce Matthews, when she and Mr. Macky White were hosts to a large groups of friends in honor of Mr. and Mrs. Joe Neely, Jr., newly-weds of the young social set of Grenada.

Mrs. Neely's former home is next door to Miss Matthews' home on Line Street. In a very natural manner Miss Matthews invited Mr. and Mrs. Neely to come to her garden to see something "very interesting." As the trio entered the garden, lights were turned on and here were grouped the many guests. The "very interesting something" was hidden from view by a large screen. When this was moved by two of the gentlemen, a very lovely table was disclosed, laden with many bridal gifts of linen, silver, crystal, Fostoriaware, trays, Fiestaware and personal apparel. While the lovely gifts were being viewed, the hostess assisted by her mother, by Mr. White and some of the other guests, served a delicious picnic supper. The barbacue pit was aglow with banked coals and here the pork sandwiches, frankfurters and hamburgers were served. A buffet table held dishes of pickles, breads, condiments, cakes, Coca-Cola, and dishes and silver for serving the supper.

The evening was spent informally and most delightfully. The guests enjoyed games of pitching washers and ping pong.

Piddling

We recently ran across a speech by Representative Sumner of Texas that expresses more clearly what we have been trying to express—our national piddling in the face of peril that we take the liberty of reproducing part of it, as follows:

"It is difficult to realize on a beautiful spring day like this, when we come and go as we will, that probably we are almost in identically the situation as France when it was depending upon the Maginot Line, and its people were divided in their attitude toward national defense. I want to get across that picture. I want you to look at it for a minute.

"Here was a great, proud nation. Toward its borders were marching the military forces of Germany. Its own people stopped the wheels of industry which were necessary to provide the machines, the instrumentalities through which its people could preserve the security of great country. Its own people did that, not someone else—its own people. What would the people of France give today if in those hours of national peril they had done what they did after the Maginot Line was broken. The testimony before our committee is that even after the Germans had advanced far into France, after much of industry had been taken over by the Germans, the united people solidified by the consciousness of a common danger, turned out more instrumentalities to defend themselves in 1 month than they had done in the last 6 months before that. But it was too late. There are no sadder words of tongue or pen than those. Men, women, and children worked till they dropped in their tracks, former Ambassador Bullitt told our committee, but it was too late.

"Mr. Speaker, we also have a Maginot Line; just one line the Nazis do not like. Here we are playing like children, mumbling trivia, fighting for profits, politics fighting for gains. All the while we are assuming in America to say to the world, stay out of this hemisphere. That is a good deal of territory. I am not saying these things in criticism. I am stating facts. We are experts in the internal politics of Europe, deep in the affairs of Africa, deep in the affairs of Asia. We proclaim to the world that we are the arsenal for one of the two warring groups. Whether wisely or unwisely or strategically (being different from the long established strategy of military men) I know this has been an effort to educate those who may be in active enemies tomorrow to the democratic theories of everything. For us first of all. We are threatened everybody in the world able to think if this land breaks.

We are like children. We go to coastal cities to stop the horse races; we are discussing in many States whether or not boxing should be stopped. We stop fumigation laboratories when this Nation is facing greatest peril that it has faced since it began to be a nation, probably the greatest today. Our Maginot line, the ships that drop deadly eggs of battle, can be put out of commission, as in France. We have here what we must see are internal fifth columns, collaborationists with this alien international conception, carry it out or not, but certainly by their inaction essential to our national existence will have failed for profits, dividends among other things.

Me and the GOW

Great Britain has plenty more cards up her sleeves. Do not 'sell Britain short.' Invest in her futures on the stock exchange. She has been good investment.

If the stay-at-homes and fly-by-the-nights here, they should go to Nassau or to the Great River where there is more to their liking.

Men, You Have A Good Thing

Can you say all this about your own home, men? Try it, and see:

Home is where I can read the evening paper sitting in a comfortable chair under a good light with a handy ash tray and without interruption.

Home is where there is always a snack in the ice box.

Home is where what I told the boss is looked on as one of the great speeches of all time.

Home is where I can get into comfortable clothes and usually into a comfortable frame of mind at the same time.

Home is where I can house any kind of hobby that appeals to me at the moment.

Home is where there is a davenport in the living room long enough to stretch out on while I listen to my favorite ball team taking a beating.

Home is where I'm not likely to find my in-laws when I come home from work.

Home is where the book I am reading it left beside my chair until I've finished it.

Home is where nothing is said if I'm a few minutes late at night.

Home is where I'd rather be, on most evenings, than anywhere else—if not in the world—at least in my town.

Home is where there isn't any fuss made if I ignore my salad and drink three cups of black coffee.

Home is where none of the furniture is too good to use.

Home is where I can think for a few hours each day that I'm a pretty important guy.

You men who agree that there's what home is ought to grumble tonight when the little woman suggests going to the corner movie.

You've got a good thing—and don't forget it.

Power Question

The City Council now has the opportunity at what appears a very reasonable cost to obtain all the facts [illegible] probable cost of a new generating station as well as the value of the existing distribution system and see no cause for delay beyond the very [illegible] suggested by Alderman Burt, which will permit the citizens' committee of ten to analyze the engineer's proposition and approve it.

W. A. Fuller & Company, a reputable engineering firm, will do the whole job for seven hundred dollars. In addition to the fundamental facts which they propose to unearth, they propose to set up a schedule of rates for the proposed city plant, and propose to canvass the electric consumers of the city with a view of having each of them say whether or not he would use city current if it were as cheap or cheaper than the current now being used from the present source.

It is very possible that the cost figures the engineers furnish will absolutely stagger the people of Grenada, already heavily bonded. It is possible that the rate structure proposed will be such that it will not be attractive to the people of Grenada. It is "not written in the book" that a city plant will solve all of our electric problems.

What the aldermen need are FACTS; what the people need are FACTS. The engineers propose to give them FACTS. And upon these FACTS, the people are capable of deciding for themselves whether they want any change in their source of electric energy.

We can see no reason for any great delay in employing these engineers, and many reasons why they should be speedily employed so that the fifteen year old controversy which has been based on presumption and [illegible] may be approached in an intelligent manner.

A Bad Legion Policy

We believe that the Legion policy of lending its name and prestige to this and that fly-by-night organization for the purpose of getting a "cut" in the intake—and permitting the fly-by-nighters to evade privilege taxes—is wrong. This policy is not confined to Grenada, far from it. It seems to be a state, if not national custom.

Just recently the Legion sponsored an event. While the legion is said to have made it plain that it was in no wise responsible for debts contracted, it should "make good" any debts left by the debt-evader, AND NEVER SPONSOR ANYTHING ELSE unless the Legion IS willing to assume financial responsibility.

UNDER THE OLD MAGNOLIA TREE

With Herbert B. Allen

ACT TODAY! EXPLAIN TOMORROW!

Nothing could be more significant of the hectic times in which we live than the startling announcement that conservative Secretary Cordell Hull had signed an agreement with the Danish Minister in Washington which provided for the defense of the Danish colony of Greenland by the United States. Truly we Americans are learning our geography these days. And Berlin learns that the Monroe Doctrine is still doing rather well, thank you!

Actually there is no longer a government of Denmark in existence, save the exiled group in London. Fine Denmark, which before the war shared with Sweden the honor of having the highest standard of living in the world is now in suspended animation—in the shadow of the Nazi eclipse.

Even before legal formalities could be concluded, our army and navy were moving to establish bases in Greenland—a region of great strategic value. Twelve months ago such action would have aroused a hurricane of protests all over the country. This action of the administration would have been branded as Hitleresque. And many of the millions who recently had the pleasure of nearly voting the President out of office would have clamored that dictatorship was in our midst.

Circumstances govern cases. As Americans become increasingly conscious of the real aims of the Berlin Reign of Terror, they are much more inclined to suit the action to the occasion. As the great power and determination of the Nazi effort to extinguish personal liberty throughout the world is driven dramatically home by the world panorama, American public opinion becomes correspondingly responsive to realistic action with respect to defensive measures.

Ironically enough, self defense imposes upon the democratic nations which most despise totalitarian methods, the actual practices of the totalitarian powers. Act today! Explain tomorrow!

From Greenland's icy mountains
To Trinidad's coral strands,
Our soldiers, sailors and marines,
Stand guard in foreign lands.

THE AMERICAN WAY

What we are pleased to call the American way of life was probably evolved during the comparative quiet of the nineteenth century. Business was then largely conducted among friends and acquaintances. But the last decade of the century saw the rise of giant industrial corporations. The personal element in business gradually dissolved as the impersonal corporation supplanted the private employer in industry.

Men who know their employees by their first names were eventually displaced by employment managers who hired and fired armies of men that they scarcely knew by sight. Labor troubles grew in proportion to the expansion of industry. With the personal interest and relationship no longer present between employer and employees, there arose labor legislation, labor relations boards, and boards of conciliation, to govern and adjust differences between the two groups. The terms capital and labor again came into common usage.

This evolution of the employer into the impersonal corporation and of the employee into the industrial union, is one of the major departures from the old American way. But a person who desired to return to the old order must have a very short memory indeed—or must never have lived in a typical industrial region some years ago. We are often inclined to be unmindful of the deficiencies in the old methods.

For no matter what may be the nature of the industrial disputes of today, nor the bitterness with which they are waged, the fact remains that both capital and labor are more prosperous at this time than at any time in the past. They operate on a vastly larger scale, and the communities in which industry centers today are a happy contrast to the typical factory and mill towns of comparatively recent times.

Our friend Harry Bennett, of the Ford Motor Company, last week met our friend, Philip Murray, representing the Detroit automotive unions, at the invitation of our friend Murray Van Wagoner, Governor of Michigan. Governor Van Wagoner's home is in the General Motor's city of Pontiac. He knows what it is all about.

In consequence, the Ford River Rouge plants will once more hum with their usual incredible activity. The agreement in Detroit last week was one of the most historic events which have taken place in the United States in the thirty years this writer has followed public affairs. It has a paramount significance which is easily apparent to those who are familiar with the interplay of great forces in the modern, social and industrial world.

The Lord works in mysterious ways
His wonders to perform;
But mere men, and ideas,
Are His agents of reform!

THE PARADOX OF MISSISSIPPI

Have you ever thought of the great paradox of the State of Mississippi? Well—to all intents and purposes, this is a MACHINELESS state in a MACHINE age! The only machine seen here commonly is the automobile.

We have automobiles, agricultural machinery, and we are in the shadow of cotton harvesting machinery. We have to purchase these machines with commodities produced here which wholesale at pitiful prices. And we also have seven hundred thousand persons on commodity relief.

We need machines in Mississippi—and need them desperately. The machines we require are those which will produce payrolls in this state. When we have payrolls we can have automobiles for everyone who is industrious.

The difference in the price of cotton in the bale, and in the price of the attractive raiment which fascinates milady in the shop winlows, is the difference between day and night. The difference is that between present day Mississippi, and the Mississippi of the future.

We buy the manufactured products of other states at high prices and give in exchange excessive quantities of the materials we produce. We have the unemployed labor—we have the surplus materials. We have the dire necessity of utilizing them intelligently. To utilize them intelligently requires capital. To coordinate capital, labor and materials requires resourceful planning. It can be done—it must be done. There is no better place in which to do it than in Grenada. Grenada CAN. Grenada WILL.

I had a bale of cotton
Which I took to town today;
It made a nice down payment
On milady's negligee.

One of the most distinguished of all the students in G. H. S. is a Junior, James Thomas. He is very versatile, excells in all that he does, and is a brilliant student. He won first place in the State in Latin I his freshman year. James is also a fine musician, his piano solos at the Junior-Senior Dinner being one of the highlights of the evening's entertainments. Besides these accomplishments James is such a fine artist that he is in complete charge of the art department of the Bulldog. He also painted all the placards advertising the Junior play. Among the extra-cirricular activities in G. H. S. he participates in basketball, track, and tennis. James Thomas is a student any school should be proud of, and we are especially glad he is a Junior.

EXTRA-CURRICULAR ACTIVITIES

Our school needs more boys and girls participating in the extra-curricular activities. Every boy and girl needs to go out in some activity that is not following the regular routine of their studies. This extra-curricular activity may be the glee club, Girl Reserves, any of the many sports of Grenada High School, and other interesting diversions, such as scouting, which offers many chances to learn about outdoor life and teaches discipline.

All of us need exercise; therefore, why not go into an activity that offers it. This "on the side" work develops initiative and self-reliance more than anything else in high school, puts extra pep into school work, gives a tired mind a chance to play profitably. All freshmen should survey the opportunities to join these various clubs and organizations and choose one, and in this manner start in a definite course early in their high school life.

The school and pupils would profit much by a greater number of boys and girls taking part in the activities outside the class room.

Bobby Weir, after winning the American Legion declamation contest over several others here, went to Jackson Saturday to the State American Legion Contest. To the delight of all the school, he won fourth place. He competed against boys from all over Mississippi. We are very proud of Bobby.

Monday afternoon the school had its last assembly program of the year. The Ritz Trumpeteers rendered a program of light classical and popular numbers. This group consisted of four men. These versatile people played trombones, clarinet, bassoon, saxaphone, coronet, and piano. They were sponsored by the band. Everyone enjoyed this program probably better than any other program this year.

CHAPEL PROGRAM

Chapel began with the student body singing "The Lord's Prayer". After Mr. Rundle read Psalms 84, he led us in prayer. The quartet, composed of Marporie Chapman, Marguerite Stanley, Stella B. Irby and Jean Thomas sang "The Nightingale." Our representative in piano, Dorothy Talbert, played her contest piece. Thomas Bell and Laverne Wilson, winers of local declamation and expression, spoke on The Monster In The Public Square and "China Blue Eyes" respectively. After Mr. Rundle told us we had won in the literary events, he announced Almeada Tilghman, as Valedictorian, Charles Kenwright as Salutatorian. Honorable mention was given to Thomas Bell, Billy Townsend, and Beulah Mae Vick, and Bobby Weir.

HONOR SOCIETY PINS

The new members of the Grenada Honor Society received their pins Monday. The Honor Society members are proud of these pins as they signify an outstanding scholastic record. The ones who received these pins were Louise Avent, Leon Provine, Effie Mae Frazier, Hazel Turner Katy Carlisle, Dorothy Parks, and Ed McCirmock.

Grenada High School took the cup again this year for having the highest number of points in the literary contest. Those rating of the G. H. S. students in this event were:

Theme, etc. Margaret Cannon.
English I—Betty Jane Yeager, third.
English II—Rogers Pleasants, second.
English III—Mary Lon Cullen, third
English IV—Charlie Kenwright.
General Science—Larry Noble.
Biology—Winfred Saunders.
American History—Beulie Cohen, second.
Chemistry—Louise Avent, third.
Bookkeeping—Almeada Tilghman.
Latin I—Margaret Green, first.

We congratulate these students and their teachers for having made such a fine showing.

GRENADA VS. OAKLAND

Grenada won over Oakland High School team Tuesday afternoon with a score of 11 to 2. The G. H. S. boys have won every game this season and have had only eight scores made against them. Congratulations Boys! Keep up the good work so we will be North Mississippi Champions again this year.

WASTE BASKET

A typical discription of Billie Guy: His fair cheeks, her teeth are pearly, her hair is soft and shiny, her eyes shine like stars at night. What a woman! Warnack also shares these thoughts.

Bobby goes so fast in his car that when it comes down the street you only see a little gray streak.

What did Billy Townsend do the other night that he wanted kept out of print? We know it was something concerning a little girl who lives on Adams Street.

Come to the Senior play and see the Seniors do their "stuff."

Congratulations to Gus Gerard who has been elected president of the student body at Ole Miss, to William Winter, who has been most outstanding Freshman at Ole Miss, to Shep Warner who is president of the Y. at State, and to Nancy Nelson, who was given highest honor in the Hall of Fame at M. S. C. W. All of these are former G. H. S. students.

Our basketball team must be made up of "supermen" this year as they have won every game.

Wonder why Jackie tries to keep up with the "doings" around Batesville. Do we remember right that Ole Miss is just twenty miles from there?

At the G. A. party last Monday night, Teddy Revell and Buddie shared honors with Frances McIlvain. Dashing Rowe Rhett, that casanova from Glenwild was seen with Betty Jane Yeager—the scarlet-o-hair.

Latest News Flashes: Bernice and Uncle "Nick" have been restored to good terms.

Louise Avent and Johnny have buried the hatchet.

Billy Townsend dated Betty Esther Edwards.

Thelma Jane Austin has flung a big "fling."

Katy is waiting anxiously for Jackson.

"Unfortunate Townsend."

Girl Reserves: Pay dues!

"Poor Sucker" Keeton, the darkest black sheep of G. H. S.

James Thomas surely went over big at the banquet as he started getting fan mail as soon as he sat down.

Heard at the banquet:
Caroline: I'm eating like a bird.
Charlie: Yeah—a peck at a time.

Benton Keeton likes for people to dream about him if they tell it before breakfast.

● The "medicine man" of the early nineteen hundreds has small part in our modern habits of living. Little medicine is sold these days from the tailboard of a wagon. The public has learned that the safe procedure, when illness comes, is to see a physician . . . a licensed M.D. When the pharmacist is chosen, the physician recommends one who is governed by honest methods and ethical principles, not one who deals in "bargain pharmaceuticals" or prescription products of questionable quality.
